He earned the respect of students and teachers alike. For ten years he taught Journalism and English, and served as advisor to the Lance and Halberd. More importantly, during this time, he taught respect, self-esteem and confidence. He yelled a little, but everyone knew his bark was worse than his bite. He didn't mind staying after school helping the Lance staff, or working on Saturdays helping the Halberd staff. We could count on him to buy a bag of doughnuts for our overtime sessions. Indeed, he was more than a teacher, he was a friend; and to show our appreciation for his hard work, we hereby dedicate the 1975 Halberd to John A. Forssen.

National Forensics League is an honorary organization for high school students who have received at least 25 points in competitive speaking. The students must also maintain a C average or higher.

The main purpose of NFL is to acquaint students with the research and thought organization involved in the writing and presentation of a speech.

This year Hellgate will be going to Great Falls for the annual state meet. Advisor Susan Rowberry stated that she feels the team will be well prepared.

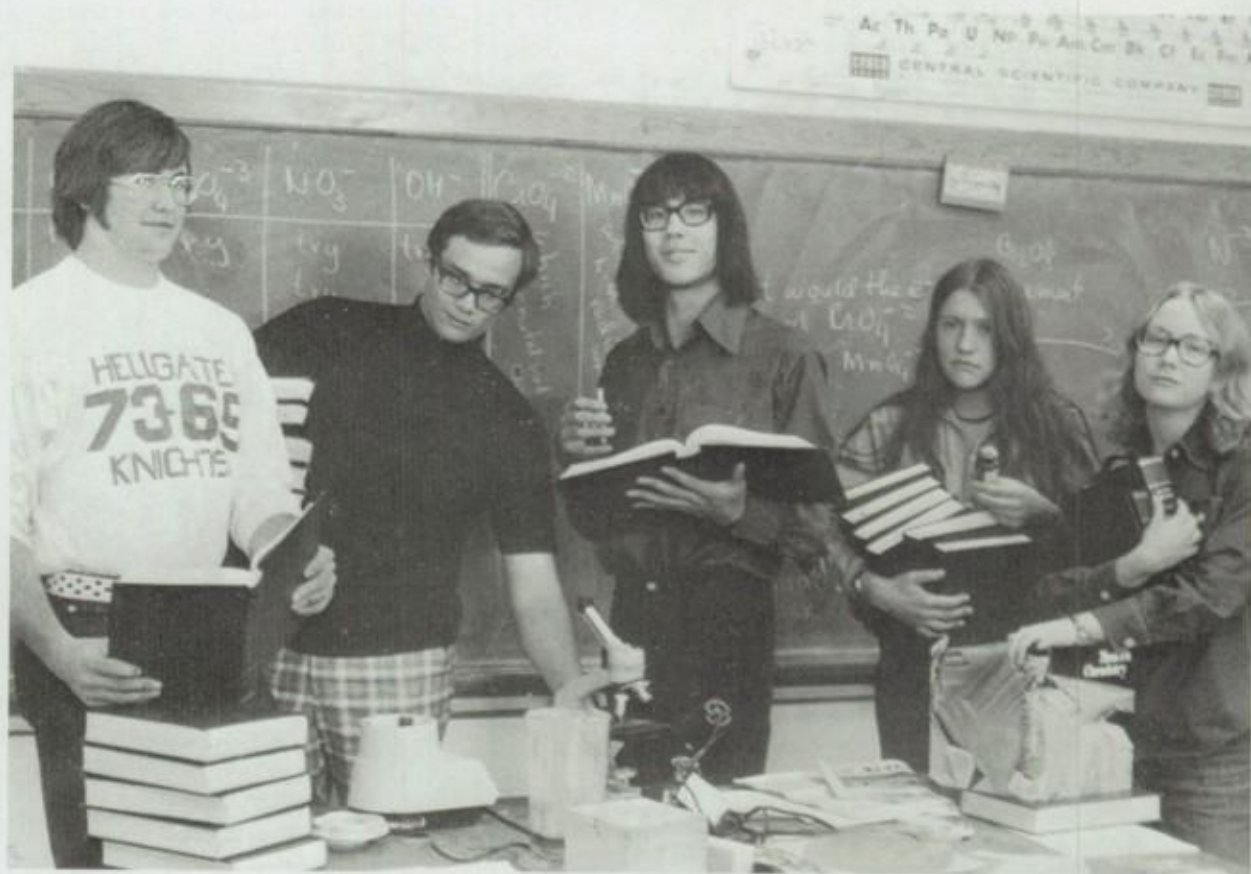

Five Hellgate seniors, Forest Reinhardt, Lissa Field, Liz Lawry, Dale Gyles and Scott Lynn, were chosen as National Merit Semi-Finalists. This is the highest number of students ever chosen in one year at Hellgate. Of the 15,000 semi-finalists chosen nationally, 3,400 will become Merit Scholars.

Competition for National Merit scholarships begins with the administration of the Preliminary Scholastic Aptitude/National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test to more than one million high school juniors. The annual competition ends a year and a half later when the names of the Merit Scholars are announced. The 15,000 semi-finalists represent about one half of one percent of the nation's graduating seniors. The 38,000 Commended Students are in the upper two per cent of those expected to be graduated from high school in 1975.

The Commended Students, Charmaine Wilson, Joy Darling, Dan Boucher and Deborah Talbot, do not continue in the Merit Scholarship competition, but the high standing of these students shows their attainment in this nationwide program.

To increase their scholarship opportunities, the National Merit Scholarship Corporation reports the Commended Students' names to the colleges they named as first and second choices when they took the test.

Each quarter the Soroptimist service organization honors an outstanding senior girl from one of the Missoula County high schools. In the fall, Hellgate's Girl of the Quarter is selected, and this year Charmaine Wilson was chosen to receive the honor.

Charmaine was selected by a faculty committee on the basis of scholastic achievement, standing in class, quality and involvement in school and community activities.

She received recognition at a Soroptimist dinner meeting, to which she and her mother were invited.

DAR
Good Citizen

Jackie Cheatham was the Hellgate recipient of the annual DAR Good Citizen Award. She answered a questionnaire concerning national and state government and had her name entered in the state DAR competition where she may win a $100 savings bond. She also received a pin and a certificate, said Senior Counselor Marolane Stevenson.

The entire senior class nominated three finalists—Jackie, Margaret Gallagher and Charmaine Wilson—with teachers making the final decision. Jackie was chosen on the basis of her dependability, leadership, service and patriotism.

The contest is sponsored by the Daughters of the American Revolution. The aim is to "stress qualities of good citizenship among senior high schools," said Mrs. Stevenson.

Jackie Cheatham performed a gymnastics routine on the balance beam and won three of four judging categories to capture the Junior Miss title for 1974. First runner-up was Melinda Wolfe, who played three waltzes on the piano, and second was Lynn Brackebusch of Sentinel.

The Spirit of Junior Miss award was won by Sheri Wallace. This personality award was decided by the contestants.

Jackie placed first in the talent, poise and appearance, and youth fitness categories. She was followed by Marcy Mourar, talent; Sheri Wallace, poise and appearance, and Abra Pelkey, youth fitness. Peggy Aitken won the scholastic achievement title. Runnerup for the scholastic award was Lynn Brackebusch.

Pancho From Chile

Francisco (Pancho) Valdivia of Concepcion, Chile, Hellgate's foreign exchange student, declared that his main interests are girls, ping-pong, cross-country, basketball and soccer.

At the all-boy school he attended in Chile, 11 subjects were required, including physics, chemistry, math, PE, French, English, Spanish and history. He went to school six days a week and in his meager spare time enjoyed dances and sports.

Handsome Pancho, whose picture decorated many girls' lockers, was elected 1974 Homecoming King. He also participated in cross-country and ran in the meet against Kalispell; during the season he ran three to five miles a day.

He planned to participate in tennis and basketball.

Kangaroos, malee trees and an expedition to the outback were some of the new happenings Joni Deschamps encountered during the summer of '74. She was Hellgate's American Field Service exchange student and lived with the Doug Mickan family in Renmark, South Australia.

Along with her "sister", Pam, Joni wore her gray uniform to Renmark High School to classes which she described as strictly academic.

In the last weeks of her stay, Joni and her Australian family went camping in the wild bush country of central Australia.

Joni had to adapt to a family whose values were very different from her own, as well as the varying attitudes of people her own age. "Even the stars are different!" she commented in a letter.

Per Aspera Ad Astra

Those who seek to attain and accomplish will reach the stars, is the message behind the selection of 11 seniors to receive the Per Aspera Ad Astra Award. # Boys State

Boys State, an event planned so students can put into practice theories taught in government courses, was at Western Montana College in Dillon. The participants were chosen by faculty members for the first time this year, on the basis of leadership, character, integrity and scholarship.

Six senior boys attended the American Legion-sponsored session, along with three of the six alternates. They were divided into mock cities, each of which elected a mayor, city attorney and police chief. The cities formed a mythical state which was run using Montana law as a guide. Competition for Top City was evident in sports events between cities, and spirit at every gathering during the week. All types of political scenes occurred, including a "kidnaping", in which Bob Smith was the central figure.

ALTERNATES- Dave Simmons, Mike Humes, Bill Morse.

Girls State

The three senior girls sent to Girls State from Hellgate were an outstanding delegation. Jackie Cheatham and Kathy Nyquist were elected to be supreme court justices, and Margaret Gallagher was one of two Montana girls elected Girls Nation senators.

The atmosphere of the week-long session at Carroll College in June was described as being "very patriotic" by one of the girls.

Due to a lack of volunteers to spend the week with the program, Girls State was attended by a smaller number of girls than in previous years. The American Legion Auxiliary, the sponsoring organization, had a difficult time coordinating a place and time for the event.

One interesting news item was that the Equal Right Amendment was rejected by Girls State Delegates.

Girls Nation

One of two girls from Montana elected to be Girls Nation Senators was Margaret Gallagher. She was elected by Montana Girls State to represent bills passed in the state session.

While attending Girls Nation in Washington, D.C., she met two of Montana's real life delegation, Sen. Mike Mansfield and Rep. Dick Shoup, and also went sightseeing and listened in on House and Senate sessions.

All-Northwest Choir

Honored for their beautiful voices by being selected for the All Northwest Choir were Jim Narum and Theresa Thane. They sang a series of individual exercises for a taped audition and were chosen on this basis.

The All-Northwest Choir is chosen every other year and consists of about 350 vocalists. The choir met in Spokane, practiced for four days and gave a final performance in the Spokane Opera House. Members are chosen from Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, Washington and Wyoming.

The Hellgate Chamber Choir also performed for the All-Northwest gathering. Jim and Theresa sang with the Chamber Choir as well as with the All-Northwest Choir.

All-Northwest Orchestra

The distinction of being some of the finest orchestra members in the northwest was awarded to seven Hellgate orchestra members. These talented students and the instruments they played in the All-Northwest Orchestra were Greg Gould, trombone; Merri Hartse, oboe; Cindy Herbig, cello; Fonda Hollenbaugh, violin; Annie Lackschewitz, viola; Forest Reinhardt, violin, and Madeleine Scales, violin.

The musicians were chosen by taped audition.

All-Northwest Orchestra met in Spokane, practiced for four days and gave a final performance in the Spokane Opera House for hundreds of music teachers from all over the northwest.

All-Northwest Band

Carol Colwell was picked to play the French horn and Scott Lynn was selected to play the tuba in the All-Northwest Band in February. All-Northwest Band, which consists of 100 to 150 persons and is renewed every other year, met in Spokane. The band members rehearsed for four days, then performed in the Spokane Opera House.

Carol and Scott were chosen on the basis of taped audition. They individually performed one scale and some etudes (exercises) which were judged first by a state chairman, then by persons appointed by the All-Northwest chairman to be worthy of the honor of All Northwest.

Top Teens

Chosen for national recognition as nominees for the outstanding Teenagers of America scholarship awards program were Jackie Cheatham, Joni Deschamps, Lissa Field, Margaret Gallagher, Cindy Herbig, Scott Lynn, Deborah Talbot, Anne Whiting and Charmaine Wilson.

Competition for 10 scholarships divided among students from Montana, Idaho, Wyoming, North Dakota and South Dakota is open to these Hellgate students. They could go on to winning a state scholarship or a $1,000 scholarship as one of two National Outstanding Teenagers.

The distinguished nine were chosen by a committee of school personnel on the basis of community service and leadership, service to school, scholarship and participation in extracurricular activities.

1. Deborah Talbot; 2. Lissa Field; 3. Scott Lynn; 4. Joan Deschamps; 5. Charmaine Wilson; 6. Cindy Herbig; 7. Margaret Gallagher; 8. Anne Whiting; 9. Jackie Cheatham.

Betty Crocker Award

Honored for her outstanding knowledge of home economics was Wendy Hurlbert, chosen Betty Crocker All-American Family Leader of Tomorrow from Hellgate. Her name was entered in the state contest, where two persons are eligible to win $1,500 and a trip to Washington, D.C.

Wendy scored the highest of all persons from Hellgate taking the test administered in December.

The Halberd would like to express appreciation to all the dedicated but otherwise little recognized persons in Hellgate High School: The office staff, always willing to lend a hand; the club members who show up for every activity; the athletes who practice hours on end, only to sit on the bench; those who work in journalism; those who work behind the scenes in drama productions, and many, many others. YOU are the persons who make this school what it is, and this page is dedicated to you.

Pep Club

Pep Club holds an important place in Hellgate's history. With a perennially large membership, its main purpose is to foster school spirit in the student body.

Funds are raised by running concessions at the Fairgrounds during football games and by bake sales and a Valentine delivery service. The club also sponsors bus trips to various varsity games out of town and has Halloween and Christmas parties. Girls' basketball and the annual faculty basketball game are also supported.

Adv. Stella Roberts said the girls have a lot of fun when they get together and can get things accomplished. Members get points by attending the biweekly meetings and participating in the activities.

Pep Club members are assets to the school and to the various sports teams. They possess the enthusiasm and "pep" that are beneficial to school spirit.

"Caring: Our Way of Life", was Key Club's main theme this year. The goal they wished to achieve was to provide community and school service. The members lent themselves to many projects including the Sadie Hawkins Dance and the Muscular Dystrophy fund drive. Key Club members worked hard to supply firewood for needy families. In addition, they have an annual marathon basketball game to aid in the cancer drive. The unsqueamish aided in the Red Cross blood drawing conducted in the fall.

Bob Coffman was elected a Key Club International Trustee last spring. He was one of twelve Key Clubbers chosen nationwide and he made frequent trips to Chicago for meetings.

Advisor John Koelbel said proudly, "They've truly done a great job and really deserve their ranking of first in the state. They're the best organization in Hellgate."

"Service to ourselves, our school, and our community." S Club's motto expresses its true purpose, to serve. The club members man a booth at the Missoula County Fair to raise money for their service projects. These projects include collecting contributions for UNICEF, a Halloween party for the patients at St. Patrick Hospital, and many others benefiting senior citizens and the handicapped. Activities are topped off with an annual canned food drive. The S Clubbers help wherever they are needed and are "on call" to whoever needs their services.

Sponsored by the Soroptomists, S Club's membership is limited to forty, but the meetings are attended by others who hope to join during the membership drive.

"C'mon kids, this is supposed to be a party," says Shelli Moore to the enthusiastic celebrants at the Halloween party.

S Club advisors Loretta Vizzutti and Paulie Koprivica cheerfully offered advice to the service-minded members of S Club.

Despite overwhelming apathy in the student body, the cheerleaders managed to arouse a spark of interest which was kindled into a flame. The cheerleaders, with unflagging fortitude, cheered at every game and traveled to all out-of-towners.

Hellgate's "pep pushers" operated a concession at the Missoula County Fair to earn money for uniforms. They also conducted rummage sales, bake sales, and sold Hellgate T-shirts. The girls had to raise their own funds to attend games and tournaments.

The cheerleaders began practice two weeks before school began in the fall. They had double sessions daily in addition to practicing at least once a week during the summer. The girls practice at least twice a week and usually three times throughout the school year.

Advisor Terry Yassenak said, "This year's squad gets along great; they're a lot of fun." Not only the cheerleaders but also the advisor put a lot of work and time into the cheers and routines.

Hellgate does have some concerned students; collectively known as the Curriculum Committee. Created by an act of Student Senate, Curriculum Committee met every Wednesday after school to discuss Hellgate's courses. "Curriculum Committee's main purpose is to make students aware of the administration and teachers' side of what's going on in curriculum," stated Lissa Field, secretary.

The committee members discussed each department and made recommendations on how to improve the classes. Feedback from the students was provided for the teachers.

Curriculum Committee had no steady membership though the same people usually attended every week. This year, Lissa said, more new members and underclassmen were attracted to the meetings. Teachers were welcome and often attended.

Journalism is just a stepping stone to an aircraft designing career for John Purchio as he folds over the wing.

"Me, sexy? You're kidding."
Kasey Anderson can't believe his ears.

The Lance, winner of innumerable awards, was once more diligently slaved over by a capable and talented staff. Upholding the tradition of fine journalistic work, the staff members spent long hours interviewing and gathering facts which were coordinated into a biweekly newspaper.

In the job of reporting the news, the Lance brought to light such stories as "Deschamps Up from Down Under; Leaves Kangaroo City;" the tragic tales of Anna Banana, Lena Lemon and Leech Peach, relevant editorials on "Popular Porno" and "Perplexing Policies". School events were covered fully and objectively with editorializing remaining solely in the editorials.

Advisor John A. Forssen commented that the Lance staffers are great foot-draggers, but on the other hand, they come wobbling through when they are needed. Also that their doughnut-eating propensities are enormous.

True to form, the staff members, led by editor Merri Hartse, together gobbled dozens of out-dated doughnuts forced upon them by the advisor.

Charmaine Wilson, editor of the Halberd, spits out, "And the same to you, buddy!" as a page rejection is objected to.

And there's one of those wounded typewriters now, and its slave, Lissa Field.

Lisa Crookshanks services Service.

Somehow, between begging for pictures, slaving over wounded typewriters, and listening to the rantings and ravings of an irate editor, the Halberd came into being once more. Created by a staff of enthusiastic persons, the Halberd's motto was best phrased by the beloved advisor, John A. Forssen. "The yearbook isn't for this spring, it's for years from now!"

As new staff members were initiated into the world of yearbook putting-together, experienced members were already hard at work perfecting the art of loafing. As deadlines approached, frantic minds ground into gear, producing blurry photos, incoherent copy and cluttered pages. All of which were straightened out by spending "deadline eve" still hard at work.

Surprisingly, out of this cacaphony of noise and general bedlam a sort of history of the 1974-75 school year was recorded and published for all posterity.

The 1974 season was not a successful season if you were to compare it to the previous three years, but by itself could be called a success. With only one returning letterman from the 1973 team we had to start from scratch. It took some time for the runners to make an adjustment from the mile-and-a-half races they ran in junior varsity competition to the two-and-a-half mile races they ran in varsity competition this year.

They had their ups and downs during the course of the season, but regrouped for the state meet and finished a solid third.

Rick Hanson, Gary Nelson and Bill Rolshoven will be lost to graduation, while four varsity members will return. There will be some very fine young runners trying to fill the vacancies, among will be Charlie Clubb, Roger Fuhrman, John Patterson, and Rick Thompson.

Scott Larson, Jim Rogge and Bill Rolshoven ran good races in the state meet. Gary Nelson ran a great race, but Rick Hanson ran a super race. Next year we are hoping for the state title.

Best wishes to all,
Coach Larry McKinney

Girls Cross Country

Cross Country is work, but it is fun; it's satisfying, and heartbreaking at times; it's a learning experience, not only as a sport, but about life.

Girls Cross Country meets entail running a mile-and-a-half course of varied terrain. Training for the season includes distance, speed and terrain workouts.

The 1974-75 season was a progressive one. The majority of the runners were young and the added experience of the season resulted in improved times and the development of a strong team with great potential. The '75-76 season held great promise for the team.

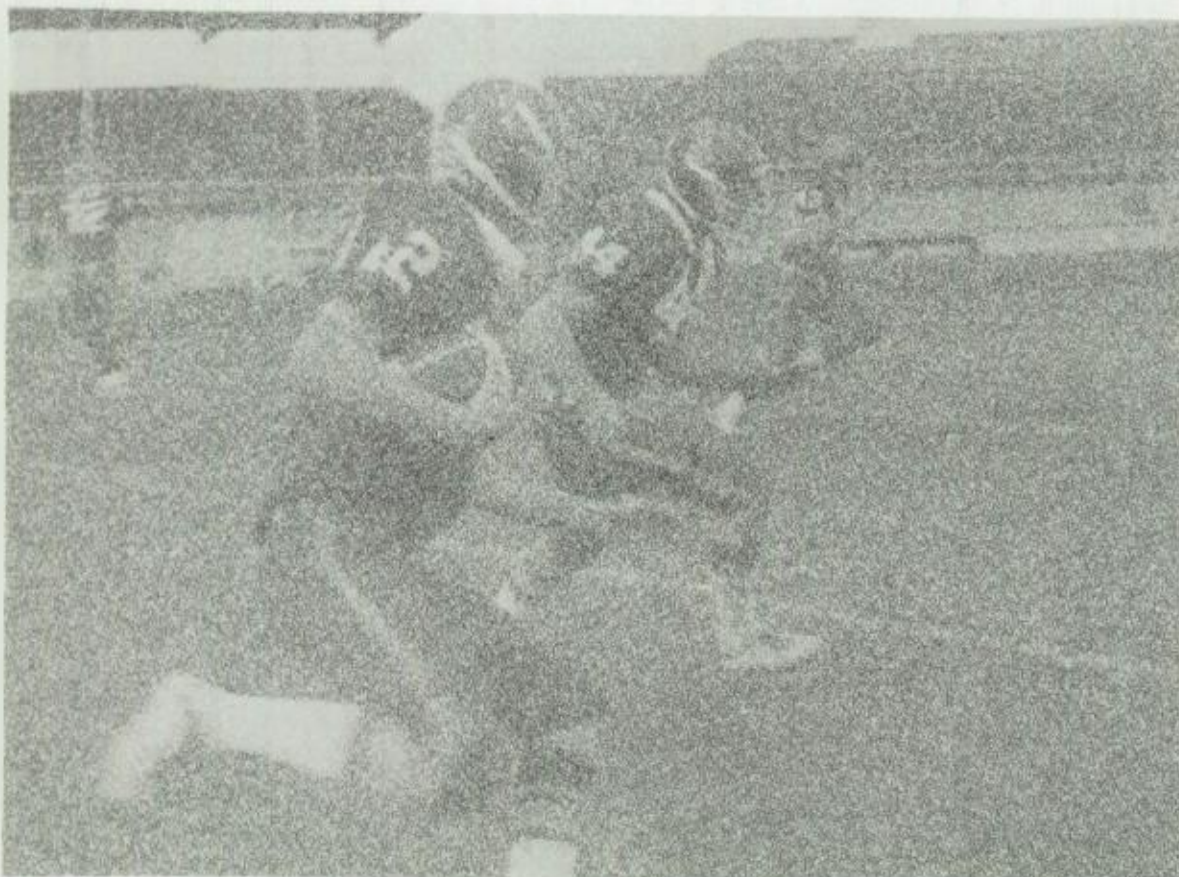

The girls discovered a great deal of personal satisfaction can be derived from running Cross Country. Endurance and paces improved, enabling the girls to deal better with competition. Each girl found her performance is important not only for herself, but for her team, thus making her responsible to her teammates as well as to herself.

1974 Hellgate Knights

There are many ways to measure the success of a football team. The most common and ordinary means is through the win and loss record. The Hellgate Knights of 1974 should not be measured against that gauge, because they were successful in so many other often-forgotten categories.

Beginning the season with a team in which only six players had logged more than six to eight minutes of playing experience, they steadily improved through the season and played their best game the last game of the year.

With a team that lacked leadership at the beginning of the year, they weathered the 0-6 start and "hung together" until they were a "respected" football team at the end. Through the emotionally tough beginning only two players quit and the Seniors of '75 with the rest of the ball club never quit or gave up on the field in practice or a game. Trailing Sentinel 14-0 with less than a minute to go in the first half, they could have given up but didn't and tied the score only to lose in the final 10 seconds of the game, after pride had kept the Spartans from scoring from the one-yard line.

The Knights of '74 have the respect and admiration of the coaching staff and one would hope the future Knights will be as successful as the Knights of 74.

Page Football

Freshman football is in essence a learning and orientation year. They must learn a new system of offense and defense and in some cases they must learn to play football. This new system demands a lot of work with many people who are new to each other and the coaching staff. During the year the boys were exposed to the fundamentals and assignments of varsity football. This year several boys were screened into positions. Although the boys had decided what position they enjoyed, the coaching staff moved them to a new position in which they felt the boy would help the team the most.

The Freshman football program does not place extra emphasis on winning but rather on playing experience for as many future Knights as possible. We realize that between their Freshman and Junior year the young men will do a great deal of maturing both mentally and physically. The freshman third stringers this year could be all-staters their senior year.

We had an excellent group of freshman this year although our record: Reds 1-5, Golds 0-7, didn't show it. If the boys can rid themselves of mistakes at the Freshman level then they will be a more disciplined team on the varsity level and will prove successful in the run for the coveted championship trophy.

The 1974 Hellgate Squires did not finish with a tremendous win and loss record, but they were in every ball game down to the final gun. The young men participating competed hard and well. This competitive trait made this group very pleasant to work with. It is my belief that quite a number of these Squires will become very active Knights of the 1975 football squad.

Best wishes to all,
Coach Bob Casey

Girls Basketball

The girls basketball team started out slowly, suffering four straight losses, but finally put it all together on October 10, 1974, when the girls beat the Hamilton Broncs, 35-34, on a last second jump shot by forward Alice Ramos. This game marked a first conference victory. Four more straight victories followed. They went on to defeat Sacred Heart 46-27; Stevensville 42-26; Sentinel, 45-36; and Hamilton again, 41-29. The highlight of the season was the victory over Sentinel which moved them into undisputed first place in the conference. Utilizing a pressing man-to-man defense and the outside shooting of forward Alice Ramos and freshman guard Janice Jacobs, the Knights forced the Spartans into committing 35 turn-overs. Final score, 45-36. The team optimistically looking forward to capturing the state AA title.

Hellgate gymnasts began the 1974-75 season as the teams to beat for the state championship.

The boys team started with a great deal of depth and a high level of skill. They were undefeated in the first three compulsory meets. The final meet showed Hellgate scoring 123 points.

The team was led by junior all-around Robin Hood, one of the finest all-around men to ever come out of a Montana AA school. The strength was found in seniors Shaun McAdams, Ken Crisp, Bill Morse, Bill Kaiser, Pete Barthelmess and Kip Kulju. McAdams and Kaiser were potential state champions.

The girls team was a team of many talented gymnasts, a team with poise and good looks. They showed a style characteristic of champions. The amount of time these girls spend on gymnastics was one of the keys to their success.

The girl's team was led by junior Cheryl Dick, one of the finest all-around gymnasts in the state. She was helped in this department by freshman Erin Marbut and junior Sue Nurse. Seniors Jackie Cheatham, Melinda Wolfe, Margie Christian, Abra Pelkey, Nancy Dalton and Sheena Veitenheimer, made up the team to beat.

Although football is not generally considered a game for girls, Hellgate's Knighties showed that girls are capable of making a good showing at the game. Despite the 1974 7-0 loss to the Sentinel Sparkies, Hellgate is still ahead in the 10-year standings having won seven, lost two, and tied one.

Besides having the satisfaction of learning and recognizing the important plays, the girls practiced good sportsmanship and teamwork, just as the boys' team does. Those who know the rules first hand can appreciate the plays made by the competing teams, and can know when to give real support to the home team during discouraging moments.

Oh, I'm sorry! I didn't mean to hit you so hard!

The Reds had a very interesting record this year. They have at times played outstanding ball and at other times have played as poorly as anyone could. This lack of consistency has kept them from being a great freshman team with a great record. However, they have the talent, the leadership, and the desire to be one of the best basketball teams in Hellgate's history. Somewhere down the line they must develop that burning desire for excellence that all champions have. They are on the brink of having it now, but it still is not there and their lack of consistent play demonstrated that fact this season. They have been a great bunch to work with, a hard working crew that never complained, no matter what was asked of them. I expect great things of them and hope they can combine with the Golds and bring a state championship to Hellgate three years from now.

The Sophomore Basketball team of 74-75 ripped the hearts out of three opposing teams, Great Falls High, Great Falls Russell and Butte. Looking at the Sophomore squad objectively, one can only visualize a tremendous varsity lineup for the years to come.

Although there are other sophomore teams throughout the state, their ability in capturing the state title does not appear to be as apparent as our own.

Junior Varsity

The two losses suffered by the Hellgate Junior Varsity did not keep the team's spirit or ability down, as was evident in their outstanding performance against Butte.

Coach Demmons said he had never in his years of coaching the Junior Varsity level seen a defense as strong as this year's team. He further stated that the boys performed at a high degree of efficiency throughout the season and always worked as a team.

Junior Varsity Basketball is used to improve and strengthen the fundamentals of basketball so that the young men will be prepared for the varsity lineup.

Blaine Taylor and Brad Graeter are Hellgate's only returning lettermen to a squad comprised of last year's junior varsity. It has been a gratifying experience for me to work with this group of boys. I am hoping that we will be a contender for the Western Division Title.

Although we lack height, I feel that our team has good quickness and several of the boys are excellent shooters. We have had to compensate for our size with intensity and hustle.

At this point in the season we are hoping to finish the remainder of the regular season on a winning note, then put together two games at Divisionals and finally represent Hellgate at the State AA Basketball Tournament in Bozeman.

The freshman wrestling team achieved a lot of success this year. The Pages achieved this because they sacrificed and worked hard to learn a great deal. They spent their afternoons working on technique drills, running stairs, and wrestling until they were thoroughly exhausted. This hard work paid off many times, but probably the most rewarding was their victory over the Sentinel frosh. Success and fun are what made the sacrifice and work worthwhile. There were many outstanding wrestlers who were constantly pushing the upper classmen for their positions on the sophomore and JV teams. Obviously we had a great varsity wrestling team this year, but watch for these young men to enter the limelight in the years to come.

The Hellgate Wrestling team won 10 matches and lost one with a very sincere and realistic objective of being the first Hellgate wrestling team to win the Montana title. The grapplers have started a wrestling tradition that will survive for many years to come. The team hurdled its first goal by beating the cross town rivals, Sentinel, for the first time ever.

Jon Cusker and Tony Koures started the season by winning the championships at the tri-state tourney at Coeur D' Alene, Idaho, and help bring the Hellgate wrestling team to win the second place trophy in a tough 16-team tourney.

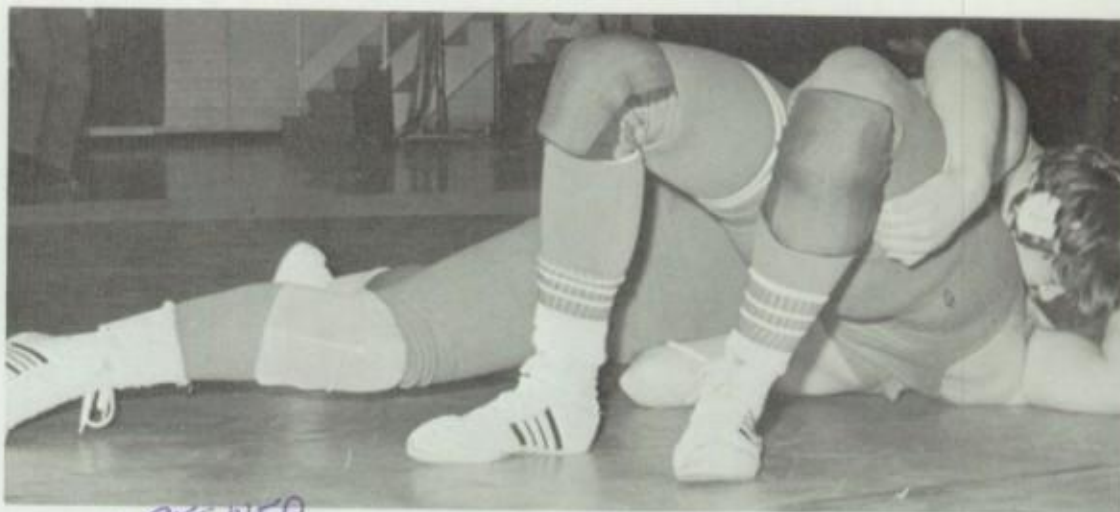

The Hellgate Knights are led by Tony Koures who is unbeaten so far this season and one of Hellgate's finest in the wrestling field. Jon Cusker, Steve Resner, Ed Campbell, Tom Blakney, Dan Boucher and Gus Campbell have received but one defeat. The truth comes out! American Field Service (AFS) is a New York organization. The big-wigs in New York are the ones who make the final decision on who goes and who doesn't. Goes where? To become AFS exchange student, a person must apply to the AFS group in his school. He should be a good student and have some knowledge of a foreign language. One student is chosen from each school and the name is submitted to the main office in New York, where they are again carefully screened.

One activity of the local club to earn money is the once-a-year dessert party. One social is put on by each school in the district with an exchange student. The exchange student from that school speaks at the social, telling of his native land and culture.

Initially, the troupe consisted of 17 members, who were scheduled to perform in the major spring production. In the spring were tryouts for girls who wished to become members of next year's group.

Modern Dance sponsored its fall formal, the Frost Fantasy, and had bake sales to raise money. Advisor Dee Vacura worked with the girls, who practiced in the evenings, occasionally in local grade schools due to overcrowding. Even with sore muscles and tired bodies, they knew dancing was in their blood and Modern Dance won its way into the hearts of many Hellgaters.

Vocational Industrial Clubs of America

Safety, workmanship and fund-raising projects were some of the topics discussed at bi-weekly Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) meetings. The Hellgate chapter's fund-raising projects included building a convertible trailer for horses and rebuilding the base of a cannon for the Montana Historical Society.

VICA is a national organization open to boys and girls enrolled and interested in trade and industrial education classes.

The purpose of VICA is to develop leadership abilities, assist students in establishing realistic goals and to promote high standards in trade ethics, workmanship, scholarship and safety.

The Hellgate chapter takes part in a Skill and Trades Olympics each spring. The event offers the best and hardest working students recognition in statewide competition.

1000 Mile Club

Giving each other the run around was what 1,000 Mile Club was all about. The goal for boys was a 1,000 miles, with girls hoping to jog the 500 mile mark.

Members were on the honor system regarding the number of miles they logged.

To make a little money, the runners sold Montana Magazine, had a booth at the fair and raked leaves at Bonner Park. The money was to be used to attend a few indoor track meets.

Members suffered the trials of running, aching muscles and shin splints, with the goal of top physical conditioning in mind.

Chevaliers

Choir Director Neil Dahlstrom can't have his cake and eat it too!

Nineteen chivalrous Chevaliers modestly accepted the title of belonging to the No. 1 vocal music group at Hellgate. Their vibrant voices could be heard practicing laboriously each Tuesday evening overcoming occasional squeaks and acquiring the skill needed for superb performances at assemblies and concerts and for entertaining at meetings and the events of various Missoula organizations.

To qualify for membership in Chevaliers, students had to pass an audition with Choral Director Neil Dahlstrom as well as being enrolled in a class of one or more of the three branches of music at Hellgate.

Seniors and juniors made up most of the Chevaliers while occasionally a sophomore or freshman could be found peering out from in among the upperclassmen. There were no underclassmen in the '74-'75 Chavalier group.

Mynstrelles is a highly ranked vocal music group comprised of 24. Mynstrelles is made up of mostly sophomores and juniors eyeing the membership of the more selective Chevaliers.

The Mynstrelles perform at concerts and music festivals.

Freshman Choir

Concert and Freshman choirs are two non-select vocal music groups which perform at concerts and the annual Christmas assembly.

Members of both choirs receive regular class credit and attend music classes each day during 3rd and 8th periods. Between practice and performances the students gain enrichment through the study of musical literature under the direction of Choral Director Neil Dahlstrom.

"Can I interest you in a Hellgate jacket? A notebook? A pencil, perhaps?" queries Dan Sullivan.

Distributive Education Clubs of America

Distributive Education Clubs of America (DECA) is a national youth group which promotes the development of leadership in high school students interested in marketing and related careers. The students in DECA practice selling and advertising and then take these skills to the state competitive conference to be judged. If they win, they go on to national competition.

Hellgate's DECA chapter operates the school store, The Knight Spot, in order to gain on-the-job experience. Members sell school supplies, jackets and knick-knacks. Students taking marketing courses are eligible to be in DECA. The group also sold food in the concession stand at the girls basketball games to earn money to go to the conferences.

Chess Club

Deep in concentration, Advisors Dawson Swanberg and Tom Graff battle for the true leadership of Chess Club.

The official stamp of the Hellgate Chess Club.

Chess Club is a non-profit, non-partisan organization devoted to serious and quiet chess. Funds for the coffer come solely from club members. An ingenious ladder tournament, devised by Dale Gyles and Ed Popko, was used early in the year to rank club members.

The annual tournament with Sentinel was shortly after Christmas. In addition, a tournament by mail with Troy High School in Fullerton, Calif. and a tournament with Great Falls High School were planned.

Jeff Wacholtz guarded the treasury, while Marty Elison and Ed Popko spread club publicity. In addition to Mr. Dawson Swanberg's legendary announcements in the morning bulletin and Mr. Tom Graff's serene humor, the efforts of Chess Club were greatly aided by Mr. Jim Niles, designer of the first official chess stamp in the club's history. A formidable assortment of freshman talent also gave the club new momentum. Anyone with a sincere love for the game, whether beginner or grand master, was welcome in the club.

Cinema Club

After their first movie, "It's a Mad, Mad, Mad, Mad World", Cinema Club members discovered that it's a sad, sad, sad, sad world. Thinking the show would draw thousands of comedy-lovers, the club was plunged deep into debt after the unsuccess of their first movie. They had planned to show a long list of spectacular and crowd-drawing flicks, but after the Mad World episode, Cinema Club retired temporarily from the movie business due to lack of funds. After a long recovery period, Cinema Club struggled to regain its position as Hellgate's motion picture group in late January.

State Drama

The state drama team, consisting of 21 actors and actresses, participated at the State Drama Tournament in Billings, taking part in such divisions as serious solo and duo, humorous solo and duo and pantomime. Hellgate's drama team did not take part in regular drama competition during '74-'75, but planned to resume activity in the tournaments in '75-'76.

Speech

Even though leaving for tournaments early—sometimes 5 o'clock as the rooster crows—wasn't much fun, 35 Hellgate speakers kept on believing in the power of the spoken word.

With underclassmen dominating the ranks of the squad, the season was termed a building year.

New competitive events were added. Heading the list was duo interpretation, which allowed two students to interpret selections of literature.

Although the team had seen better years, it did not dampen the spirits and enthusiasm of the team members. They looked forward to the State Speech Tournament in Great Falls to cap off a season of experience.

Learning to play with all the knobs and dials on a camera was the purpose of Photo Club. Members developed expertise in the field of photography.

Two of the ten Hellgate delegations were ranked tops at the tenth session of the Montana Model United Nations. The Honduras delegation — Stephen Hess, Mark Nimlos, Mark Elison and Andy Taylor — along with the United States — Eric Giere, Kelly Daniels, Pat Olson, Ross Best and Marty Elison — were judged as two of the ten best delegations in representing the activities and policies of their nations.

For outstanding work in committees, Kenya was honored. Members included Mark Beaufait, Nancy Maxson, Gary Nelson and Liz Lawry.

Even though portrayal of a foreign country wasn't easy, delegates to MUN found the role-playing a rewarding experience.

Weeks of studying countries and writing resolutions were culminated at a three-day convention in November at the University Center Ballroom. Members spent a full day in committees considering resolutions, deciding whether they should be sent to the General Assembly.

The raising of oil prices by the Arab bloc, war threats by France and Belgium and food embargoes by the United States fueled the crisis furnace. Through several hours of debate in the Security Council, the problems were resolved, with universal peace being the goal.

You meet the nicest people in MUN.

Radio Club

Lar Auto finds being a member of Radio Club electrifying.

Radio Club is a group of amateurs interested in setting up a radio station.

Hellgate's group belongs to the American Radio Relay League (ARRL). When hamming was on the verge of extinction, the ARRL worked to prevent that.

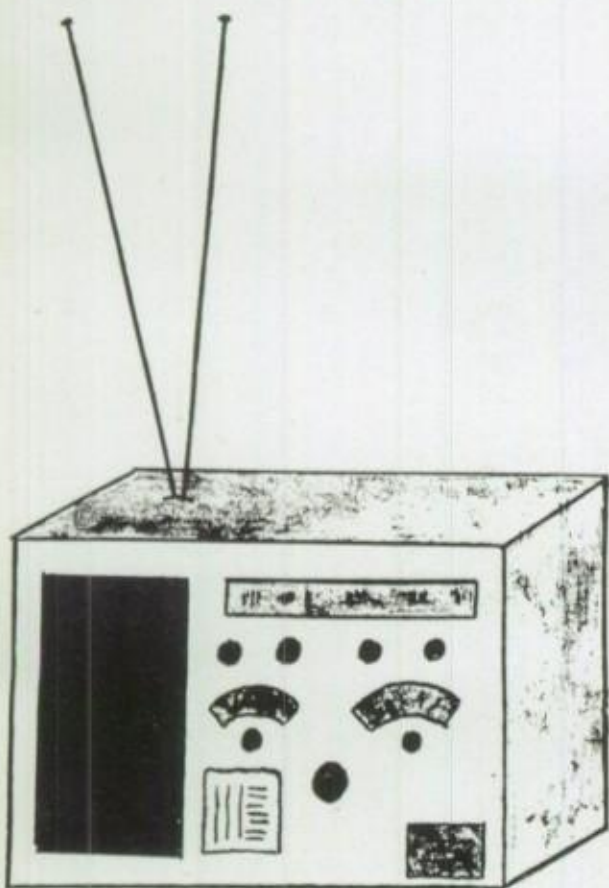

Five members have earned their ham licenses. They worked to set up a radio station in one of the practice rooms.

The group sold student directories to raise money. The money was used to buy more equipment. Members built their own radios.

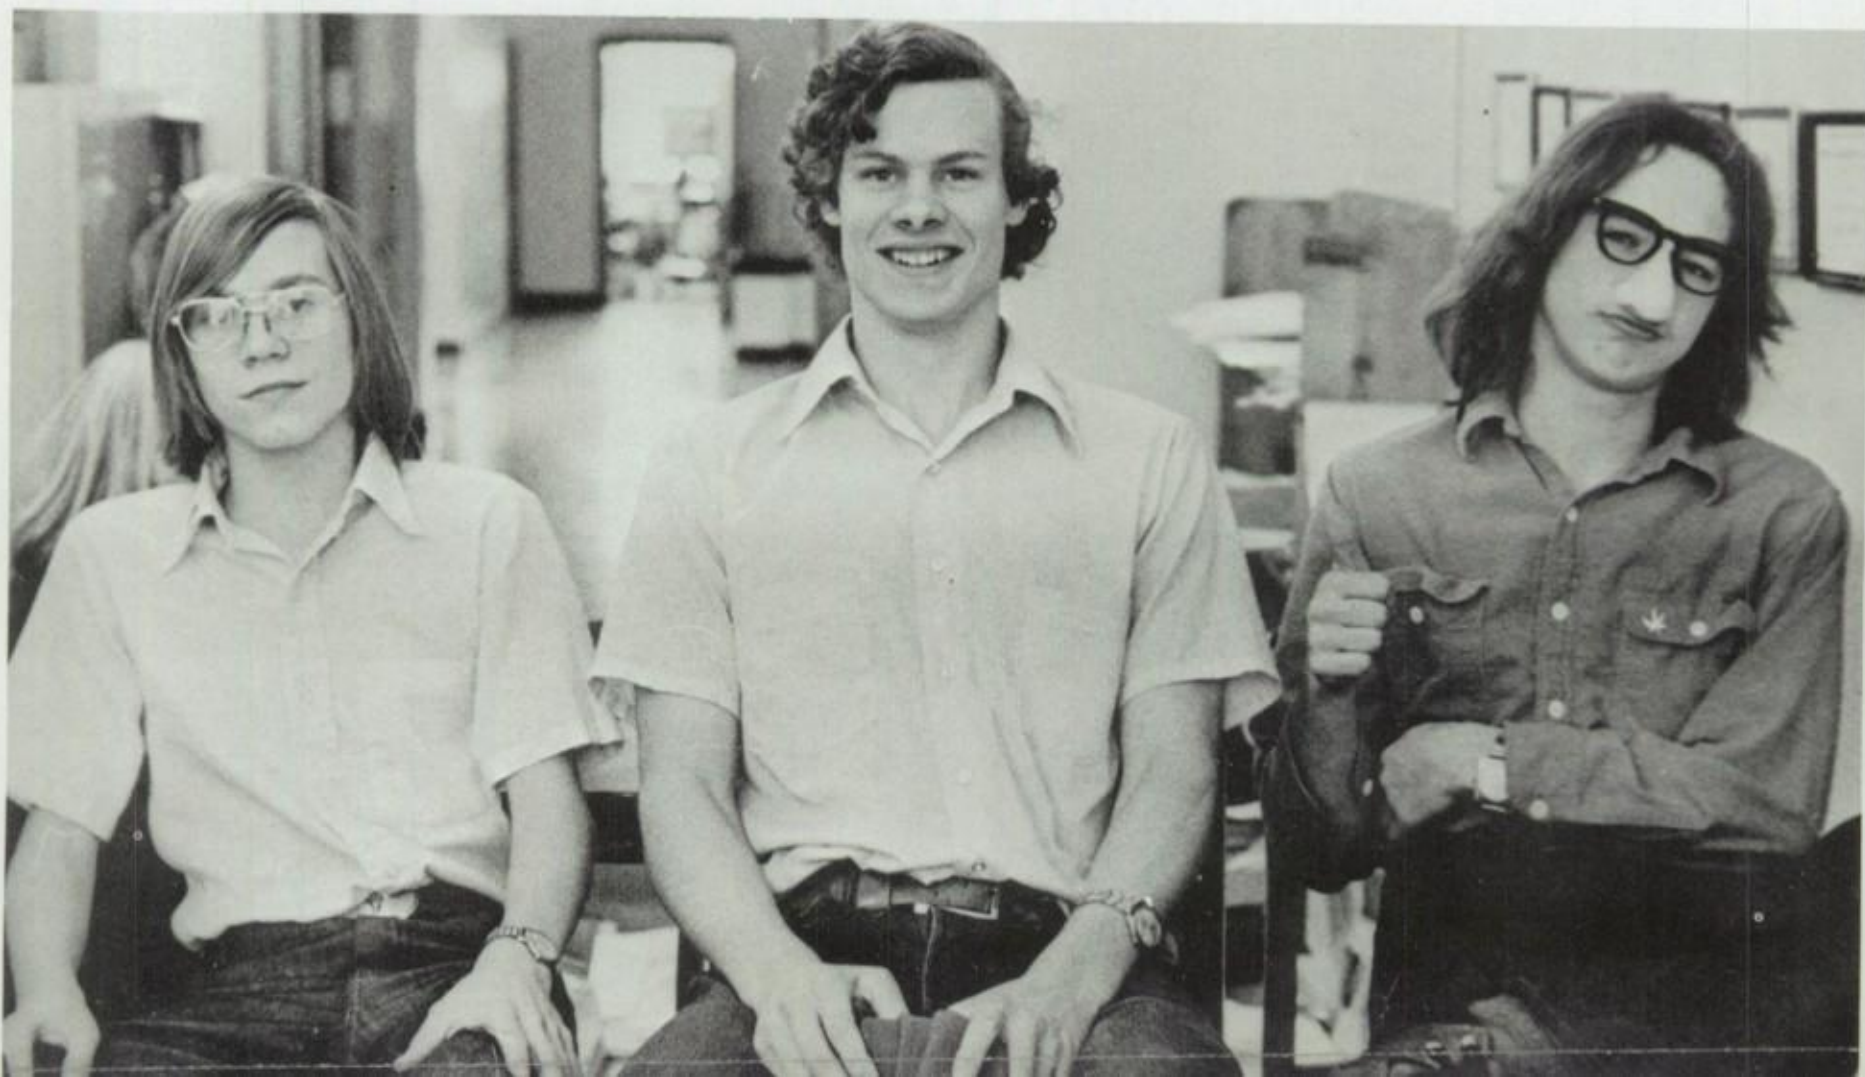

Officers were Pres. Kevin Hunt, Vice Pres. Lar Auto and Sec.-Treas. Mark Beaufait.

Kevin communicated with persons in Japan and the Antarctic.

An interest in radios and transmitting were the only qualifications for becoming a member. Radio Club had lots of fun and did more than test one, two, three.

Student Action For Education

SAE—Eva Jo Charett, Cathy Combs, Cyn Dee Hunsaker, Susan Treichel, Adv. Dean Marshall, Diane Gentry, Kris Eutsler.

Service to the community and the individual was the goal of Student Action for Education (SAE).

In 1974-75, membership was small, but members still strove to help others. Each member had his own project. All worked on a volunteer basis.

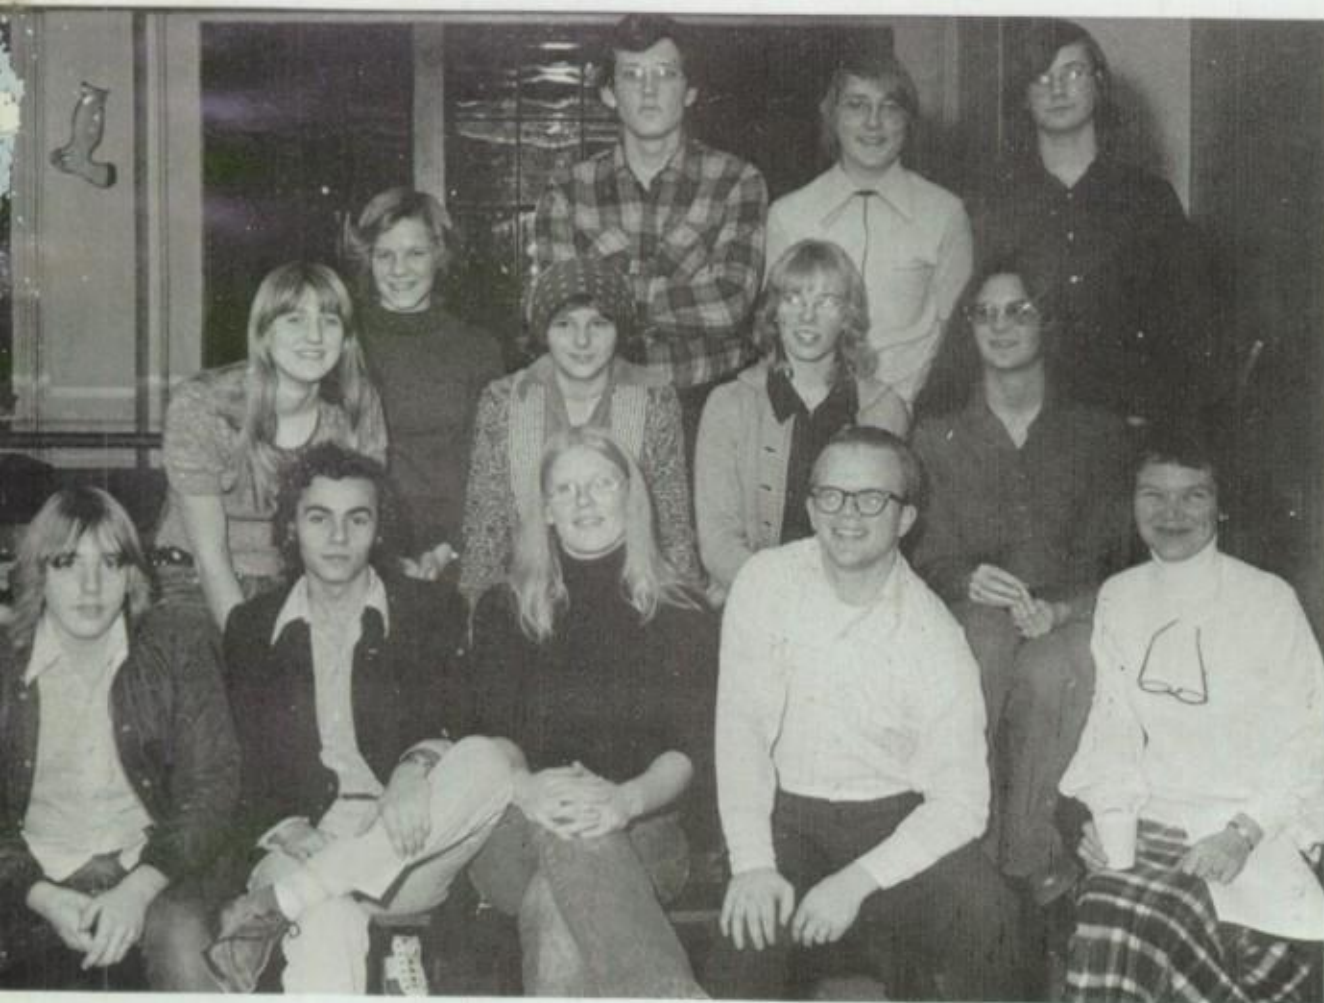

One girl worked for a quarter at the Humane Society shelter caring for animals and doing all the little jobs that were necessary.

Another girl worked in the gift shop at St. Patrick Hospital. Another project was helping in the grade school special education program.

The only expense for the group was paying the charter fee of $10. SAE is an outgrowth of the National Education Society.

SAE stood for more than words. It represented a chance to help oneself by helping others.

Modern Language Club was designed to permit students to experience the cultures associated with their respective languages.

Having fun, fun, fun was all German Club did. Members had an Oktoberfest and went caroling at Christmas, with the old traditionals sung in German. To raise money, the club sold German chocolate, hard candy and salami. A camp, where only German was spoken, was planned at Salmon Lake.

French Club tried to coordinate all levels of fluent Frenchies. Besides having a crepe party in the fall and other cooking demonstrations, the group planned to challenge all other language clubs to a knockdown, kick-out soccer game in the spring.

Spanish Club members frolicked at the several parties they had with native Spanish speakers. The group decorated the Home Living Center and provided refreshments to add to the festivity. The members also managed to stumble their way to the Rattlesnake area for a nature hike.

All language clubs combined to plan a dessert at Christmas time. A full spread banquet was scheduled for the spring, adding to the international effect of Modern Language Club.

Orchestra did more than play around. Besides building up talent, members really went places. On the basis of taped auditions, seven musicians were chosen to attend All-Northwest Orchestra in February. Elated to be earmarked special were Greg Gould, Merri Hartse, Cindy Herbig, Fonda Hollenbaugh, Annie Lackschewitz, Forest Reinhardt and Madeleine Scales.

Still struggling with taped auditions, 14 musicians were chosen to attend All-State Orchestra. Selected to go to Billings in October were Julia Braun, Charlie Clubb, Carol Colwell, Walter Congdon, Merri Hartse, Cindy Herbig, Fonda Hollenbaugh, Annie Lackschewitz, Lisa Perry, Forest Reinhardt, Madeleine Scales, Gretchen Talbot, Katrin Talbot and Andy Taylor.

Rounding out the competitive aspect was the Solo and Small Ensemble Competition in April. State qualifiers were to play at the auspicious assemblage in May.

As usual, the orchestra made Christmas something special. Members played the traditionals, "The Nutcracker Suite", "Sleigh Ride" and "Greensleeves", at the annual assembly.

In addition, string quartets performed at local hot spots, the shopping centers and the University Library, to add to the spirit and pick up a few nickels and dimes.

The money was for a trip to go anywhere.

The orchestra planned to combine with the all-city grade school orchestra in February with the added attraction of a guest conductor.

The musical season was to have been capped off by two senior concerts, with seniors providing the solos.

Orchestra made beautiful music and possibly gave birth to the next Brahms or Beethoven or . . . .

Deeply involved in his playing is Andy Taylor, whose thoughts are wandering to his mistletoe.

Future Homemakers of America

Ideas for future careers were brewed at meetings of Hellgate's chapter of Future Homemakers of America.

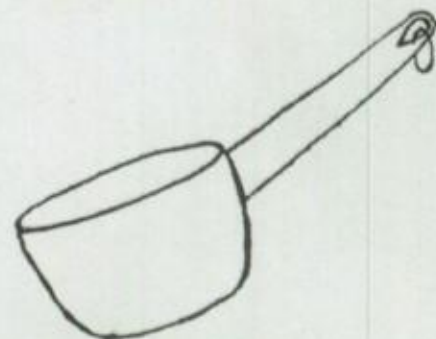

After taking a home economics course, anyone could be a member. The purpose of FHA is to promote leadership through the field of home economics and strengthen interest in home careers. It also teaches poise in social situations.

FHA sold hot dogs at football games to raise money. They also brightened a few lives by visiting rest homes.

Finding a future in home economics filled the year for Hellgate's FHA.

Office Education Association

Helping young women and men to become responsible, working adults, giving them experience in office work and aiding them in obtaining life long careers is the purpose of Hellgate's Office Education Association Club (OEA).

The weekly OEA meetings are comprised of discussions on job prospects and fund-raising and charity projects and listening to guest speakers.

The 28 members of Hellgate's OEA chapter participate in fund raising projects such as bake sales and service projects such as Christmas and Valentine parties for the children at the Missoula welfare nursery. Guest speakers such as Missoula businessmen and executive secretaries discuss job interviews and the qualities of a good secretary or office worker.

OEA members are also offered a chance to compete in statewide competition in Helena in March. The event has typing, shorthand and clerical aid competition.

Outdoor Club

"Hey, did I hear a bear?"

Getting away from it all is Outdoor Club's purpose; this includes doing everything from tap-dancing on snowshoes to cross-country skiing, all-day bicycle trips, petitioning against non-conservation issues, charring hot dogs and marshmallows over a campfire while drying out wet socks, lying about "the 50-mile backpacking trip I took" and more!

The informal, non-select group, with the help of Advisor Bruce Baty, planned outings and trips on which everyone was welcome to tag along—even non-members.

Outdoor Club is geared to the enjoyment and appreciation for the Montana outdoors.

"Don't jump!"

Poems, prose, short stories, artwork and many long hours of reading, reviewing and rereading went into Hellgate's literary magazine, the Troubadour.

The Troubadour staff started out the year by advertising and selling subscriptions for the magazine which was to materialize some time in April.

After selling enough subscriptions to begin publication, the hard-working staff members campaigned for material to be submitted by talented students. The material received was then read and reread by staff members who selected only the best works to fill the pages of the Troubadour.

Concert Band

"Hey! Get dressed!" Although Concert Band members did not have their new concert duds until after their winter concert, they were really together in everything else. Fifty-eight sophomores, juniors and seniors worked diligently every day during fifth and sixth periods to turn out a harmonious year. They gave several performances, including a Christmas concert, a fun program and a concert for the seniors in May. They planned to play at graduation to give the seniors a musical good-bye. Concert Band blended several levels of talent and ability to come up with a great sound which was meant to endure a lifetime.

Freshman Band

"Uh one, and uh two, and . . . where did everyone go?"

Thirty-three of Hellgate's top freshman musicians formed their own band this year, under the direction of Mr. Charles Johnson. For the first time, there were enough freshmen to have a band separate from Concert Band. Freshman Band played in the joint Hellgate-Sentinel program in the fall. They planned to put on a special "frosh" performance in March along with Hellgate's freshman choir. They also performed with Concert Band in several concerts, such as the Christmas program, and the pop concert in February.

Jazz Bands

Hellgate really boogied this year with two jazz bands. One jazz band was for freshmen only and the other one was made up of interested sophomores, juniors and seniors. This was the first year Mr. Charles H. Johnson, director, formed an all-freshman jazz band. Each band numbered about 20 students. The purpose of the jazz bands was to explore deeper into jazz and rock music than was possible in the classroom. While they didn't have a player for every instrument, the Jazz Bands did have players who switched off and played different instruments thus creating the effect of a total band. The jazz bands played in most of the band concerts during the year. They also planned to play in the State Jazz Festival in the spring.

Pep Band

Pep Band is not the pep in the pepper pot or the pep in the popcorn popper; it's not the pep in the mustard can or the pep in the vinegar stopper- it's good old fashioned P-E-P, the pep you cannot down! Hellgate Pep Band surely proved this by attending Hellgate's home games and livening up the Knight fans. Twenty-eight of Hellgate's peppiest players put it all together for a peppy year.

Shine on, shine on tuba moon.
